DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office Action is in response to the applicants' communication received on June 30, 2006.
2. Claims 1-33 are presented for examination.
3. The applicants have amended claims 1, 2, 11-13, 18, 20, 21, and 29-33 in the amendment received on June 30, 2006. No claims have been cancelled and there was no amendment to the Specification in the amendment received on June 30, 2006.
4. Applicants' arguments with respect to claims 1-33 have been considered and a tentative (proposed) agreement was discussed with the applicants' representative, attorney David O'Neill, in an interview held on September 13, 2006. The results of that interview are reflected in the Office Action presented below.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

5. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after allowance or after an Office action under Ex Parte Quayle, 25 USPQ 74, 453 O.G. 213 (Comm'r Pat. 1935). Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, prosecution in this application has been reopened pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on June 30, 2006 has been entered.

Remarks

6. In the interview held on September 13, 2006, the claim limitations were discussed. It was tentatively agreed that one of the outstanding features of the applicants' invention is element 120 and sub-element 121 and 122 along with the feature components and other feature elements in which they interact and produce data (i.e. figure 1, elements 104-141).

Continued Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

7. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

8. Claims 1, 13, 18, 20, 29, 30, 31, and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. As follows:

In the last step of claim 1, the claim limitation is directed to users submitting the meta-queries. In the last step of claim 13, the claim limitation is directed to providing the predictions to users submitting later queries. Likewise, the last steps of claims 18 and 33, the claim limitation is directed to providing the enhanced performance prediction data to users. In the last step of claim 31, the claim limitation is directed to receiving enhanced performance prediction information from the performance prediction service in response to the metaquery. Claims 1, 13, 18, 20, 31, and 33 are non-statutory because the claims comprise a step in which queries are submitted, a query is responded to, and enhanced performance prediction data is provided to users. These claim limitations are not producing a tangible result. It appears that a specific action should follow these claimed limitations. For instance, in claims 1 and 13, the limitations state that users submit later queries, however the claim limitations are silent about what happens and/or what action is produced as a result of the later queries being submitted. In the above recited claim limitations for independent claims 1, 13, 18, 20, 30, and 33, after the queries are submitted, after the queries are responded to, and after enhanced performance prediction data is provided, then is the tangible result to display information to users in an effort to access information or is there any other action that is performed in which this particular action produces a tangible result?

Independent claims 29 and 30 are also non-statutory for the reasons presented in the above paragraph. Claims 29 and 30 do not comprise the outstanding claim limitations of element 120 and sub-elements 121 and 122.

Further as to the claims, they are further rejected under 101 because they recite computer program product on a computer readable media and the media or medium in the specification corresponds to non tangible media such as transmission media including carrier waves and for these reasons the claims do not have results which are useful concrete and tangible. The examiner suggests amending claim 13 to recite "a computer program stored on a computer readable ~~media~~ storage device"; amend claim 20 to state that the "computer program product" is executed and stored on a "storage device", likewise dependent claims 21-28 should recite a "device"; amend claim 29 to recite "a computer readable ~~media~~ storage device" and claim 29 should have "comprising" to separate the preamble from the body of the claim; claims 30 and 31 should recite that the system is being implemented by hardware (computer implemented); and claim 33 should recite "a computer readable ~~media~~ storage device, the ~~computer program product~~ storage device comprising:".

Thus, the remaining claims are dependent (2-12, 14-17, 19, 21-28, and 32) claims, these claims are also rejected for the reasons stated in the Office Action presented above.
